Before his death came out several Pamphlets in vindication of him, but very partially written by his admirers: At the time of his death or thereabouts was published The compleat Statesman: demonstrated in the life, actions and politicks of that great Minister of State Anth. Earl of Shafts-bury, &c. Printed in tw. at Lond. in Hillary term 1682. And after his death was published (belides some Memoirs of his life, which made against him) under the name of Philanax Misopappus a book intit. - Rawleigh redivivus; or the life and death of the honorable Anthony Earl of Shafts-bury. Lond. 1683. oct. with his picture before it. It is divided into two parts, and dedicated to the protesting Lords, but partially written, and containeth many errors, and flightly passeth over, and omits many of his actions during the time of Rebellion, wherein he had a prime hand. There were also published Elegies on him pro and con, as also A supplement to his last Will and Test. written in verse; the particulars of which, I shall now for brevity lake pals by.

THOMAS HUNT fon of Hen. Hunt, was born in the City of Worcester, an. 1611, became a Student in Pembr. Coll. 1628, Master of Arts in 1636, but whether ever Bach of that faculty it appears not; and therefore Hen instead of Tho. Hunt in the Fasti 1630, among the Bachelaurs, is to be taken away. Afterwards he went into the Country and taught a private School, then to London and taught in the Church of S. Dunstan in the East, and at length being preferred to the Mastership of the Free-school of S. Saviours in Southwark, did much good among the Youth there, as elsewhere he had done, by his admirable way (accompanied with much induftry) in teaching. For the use of whom he wrot,

Abesedarium Scholasticum: or the Grammar Scholars

Abecedary. Lond. 1671: oct. or thus in the title of another edition. - Abecedarium Scholasticum: Or the Grammar Scholars Flower garden, wherein are these following flowers; to wit Proverbs, proverbial Sayings, Sayings al-fo on several subjects. What other things he hath written, I know not, nor any thing else of him, only that he 1683, died 23 Fanuary, in fixteen hundred eighty and two, and was buried in the Church of S. Saviour in Southwark, close to the wall in the corner, on the left hand of that door that leads from the Bull Churchyard or Bull-bead Churchyard into the said Church. The Reader may be pleased now to know, that besides this, hath been another, Thom. Hunt, who, tho no Oxford man by education, yet having been famous in his generation among certain schismatical persons for several things that he hath written and published, I shall therefore give you these brief memoirs of him, viz. That he was born in London, in the Augustine Friers, as I conceive, near the Old Exchange, was first Scholar, then Fellow, and Master of Arts of Queens Coll. in Cambridge, where he was effecmed a person of quick parts, and of a ready fluence in discourse, but withall too pert and forward. Thence he went to Greys Inn, where before he had been entred a Student, and making proficiency in the municipal Laws, was made Barrister, was had in repute for his practice, and acknowledged by most persons to be a good Lawyer. In 1659 he became Clerk of the Affizes of Oxford Circuit, but ejected from that office at his Majesties restauration (to his great loss) to make room for the true owner. Afterwards he lived and followed his profession at Banbury in Oxfordshire, was Steward for a time to part of the Duke of Buckinghams Estate, and afterwards to the Duke of Norfolk, &c. He hath written and published, (1) Great and weighty considerations relating to the Duke of York, or Successor to the Crown, &c. considered. And an answer to a Letter, &c. Lond. 1680. in 9 sh. in fol. (2) An Argument for the Bishops right in judging in capital Causes in Parliament, &c. To which is added A postscript for restifying some mistakes in some of the inferior Clergy, mischie-TOURS to our Government and Religion. Lond. 1682. oct. For the writing of which Argument, &c. he expected no less than to be made Lord chief Baron of the Exchequer in Ireland: But falling thort of that honorable office, which he too ambitiously catch'd at, and considering the loss of another place which he unjustly possessed, he soon after appeared one of the worst, and most inveterate enemies, both to Church and State, that was in his time, and the most malicious, and withall the most ignorant Scribler of the whole herd, and thereupon stiled by a noted (f) author them. thor, Magni nominis umbra. The said Postscript was reprinted the same year, with a large and most scandalous Preface to it, containing very groundless and abusive reflections on the Universities, and the rankest raillery imaginable on the whole body of the Clergy; and thereunto were annexed Great and weighty considerations, &c. before mentioned. But the faid Postfeript being wrot with a plain defign to overthrow what he had maintained in the body of his book, occasioned (besides what Rog. L'Estrange said against it in some of his Observators, which came out foon after its publication ) Edw. Pelling Rector of S. Mart. Church within Ludgate. Lond. (the Supposed author of Protestant Apostate, &c. Lond. 1682. qu.) to point out from p. 21. to 35, the true original, viz. Persons book of Succession put out under the name of N. Doleman) from whence he transcribed many of his most pernicious and destructive Principles, as well in the Great and weighty Considerations, &c. considered, as in the Postswipt. Soon after one Wa. Williams of the Middle Temple Barrester did put out an Answer to the said Postscript intit. An answer to sundry matters contained in Mr. Hunts Postscript, to his Argument for the Bishops Right in judging capital Causes in Parliament, VIZ. 1. As to bis publishing a scandalous letter to the Clergy, &c. Lond. 1683. in 4 sh. in qu. Dr. G. Hicks also in the preface to Jovian, or an Answer to Julian the Apostate, as also in the first edit. of the book it self p. 237, and elsewhere in the same work, doth plainly infinuate that this factious and rebellious author contributed no confiderable affistance towards the composing of Julian the Apostate, being a short account of bis life, &c. written by Sam. Johnson: And Mr. Tho. Long of Exeter, in the Epist. to the Reader before his Vindication (g) of the Primitive Christians, &c. points at several foul passages in the said Julian, clearly to be feen in Mr. Hunts Postscript; and in the very entrance of the Appendix to the Vindication, and in other places, doth positively affirm, that both Hunt and Johnson have borrowed great part of their respective Libels from Job. Miltons villanous defence of the Murther of K. Cb. 1. Mr. Hunt hath also written (3) A defence of the Charter and municipal Rights of London. Lond. 1683. qu. For the publishing of which he was ordered to be taken into custody: whereupon he fled into Holland in June, or thereabouts, an. 1683, aged about 56 years. See more in the first Vol. of this work, p. 308. The said Defence was answer'd by Anon. by way of Letter to a friend in a treatise intit. The Lawyer outlaw'd: or, a brief answer to Mr. Hunts defence of the Charter, &c. Lond. 1683. in 5 sh. in qu. It is also taken for granted by one (b), who may reasonably be supposed to have fully known the truth of what he afferts in this matter, that tho Tho. Shadwell the Poet (bred in Cambridge) be author of the rough draught of the following libel, yet the finishing of it was done by Tho. Hunt: which piece is thus intit. Some reflections on the pretended parallel in the Play called, The Duke of Guile; in a letter to a friend. Lond, 1683, in 4 sheets in

463. RICHARD TOWGOOD or Toogood, was born near Brewton in Somersetshire, became a Servitour or poor Scholar of Oriel Coll. an. 1610, took the degrees in Arts, holy Orders, and preached for some time in these parts. Afterwards he retired to the City of Bristow, was made Master of the School in the College Green there, and thence he was removed to the Pastorship of Allsaints Church. Afterwards he took the degree of Bach, of Div. and was made one of the Chaplains to K. Ch. I; to whose cause adhering in the time of the Rebellion, he suffered much for it, being then Vicar of S. Nicholas Ch. in Bristow: but at the return of his son, he was restored, was made, as I conceive, Preb. of Bristow; and upon the promotion of Dr. Glembam to the See of S. Asaph, had the Deanery thereof given to him by his Majesty, in requital of his Sufferings, which he kept to his dying day. He hath published Several Sermons, as (1) Disloyalty of Language questioned and censured, preached against the licenticusness of seditious tongues, on Job 3.4. 18. former part of the 18 verse. Printed at Bristow 1643. oct. To which is added, A brief Corollarie, questioning and censuring rebellious actions.

The running title of which in the Corollary it self is this, Who can touch the Lords anointed and be guiltless? (2) A singular Master-piece of furious Sedition, preached Jan. 15. an. 1642. on Plal. 94. 20. - Printed with Difloyalty of Language questioned, &c. (3) The almighty his gracious token of love to his friend Abraham, preached in the Cath. Ch. of Bristow 3 Jan. 1674, on Acts 7. 8. former part. Lond. 1676. qu. &c. He died in fixteen hundred eigh-83 ty and three, and was buried in the north ifle of the choire at Bristow, over against the tomb of Sir Charles Vaughan. Soon after was a flat stone laid over his grave with this inscription thereon. Richardus Towgood S.T. B. obiit Aprilis 21. An. Dom. 1682. ætatis suæ octogesimo nono. Spes mea reposita est in cælis. In his Deanery succeeded Sam. Crossman Bach. of Div. of Cambridge and Preb. of Bristow, son of Sam. Crossm. of Bradfield Monachorum in Suffolk, who had it confer'd upon him by his Maj. in the beginning of May following. He hath written and published several things, as The young mans Monitor, &c. Lond. 1664. oct. and several sermons, among which are Two sermons preached in the Cath. Ch. of Bristol, 30 Jan. 1679, and 30 Jan. 1680. being the days of publick humiliation for the execrable murder of K. Ch. I. Printed at Lond. 1681. qu. Also A Serm. preached 23 Apr. 1680 in the Cath. Ch. of Bristol before the Gentlemen of the Artillery company newly raised in that City. Pr. at Lond. 1680. qu. And An humble plea for the quiet rest of Gods ark, preached before Sir Joh. Moore L. Mayor of Lond. at S. Mildreds Ch. in the Poultrey, 5 Feb. 1681. Lond. 1682. qu. &c. He died 4 Febr. 1683 aged 59 years, and was buried in the fouth isle of the Cath. Ch. in Bristow. After him fol. lowed in the faid Deanery Rich. Thompson, as I shall tell you elsewhere.

MATHEW SMALWOOD fon of Jam. Smal. of 464. Middlewick in Cheshire, was born in that County, became a Student in this Univ. 1628 aged 16 years, Scholar of Brain. Coll. two years after, took the degrees in Arts, and left the University for a time. In 1642, Nov. 1, he was actually created Master of Arts, being then in holy Orders, and a sufferer in those times, if I mistake not, for the royal cause. After his Majesties restauration in 1660, he was actually created D. of D. by vertue of the Kings Letters for that purpole, was about that time made a Dignitary, and in 1671 Dean of Liebfield in the place of Dr. Tho. Wood promoted to the See thereof. He hath Several Sermons, as one upon Gen. 5.24. another on Prov. 11.18. a third on Math. 5. 24. &c. All printed after his Maj. restauration. He died at Market Beswerth in Leicestershire on the 26 of Apr. in sixteen hundred eigh- 163; ty and three, being then there to attend the funeral of Sir Wolftan Dixey, and was fome days after buried in the Cath. Church of Liebfield. In his Deanery succeeded Dr. Lancelot Addison of Qu. Coll. in Oxon.

JOHN DURELL son of Jo. Durell of S. Hillary in 465. the Isle of fersey, was born there, entred a Student in Merton Coll. in the latter end of the year 1640, aged 15 years, having then a chamber in S. Albans Hall; but before he had spent two years there, (which was under Mr. Tho. Jones) he left that antient house, Oxford being then garrison'd for his Majesty and the Scholars in arms for him, and forthwith retired to France; where, at Caen in Normandy, he took the degree of Master of Arts in the Sylvanian Coll. 8. of July 1644. About which time he studied Divinity, carried it on for at least two years at Samaur under the famous Divine and Writer Moles Amyraldus Divinity Reader in that University. Afterwards he retired to his own Country, continued there for a time among his Relations, but at length being expuls'd thence with Monsieur Le Conteur and Dan. Brewint, both born in fersey, our author Durell, who was the first that left that place, took his journey to Paris, and there received Episcopal Ordination in the Chappel of the honorable and truly noble Sir Rich. Browne Knight, his Majesties then Resident in France, from the hands of Thomas Bish. of Galloway, (after the Kings restauration of Orkney) about 16$1. So that being a native of Jersey, ordained in France, and by a Scotch Bishop, doth make a certain (a) Writer doubt whether he was Ecclesia Anglicana Presbyter, as our author stiles himself in his books. Soon after he refided at S. Maloes, and acquainting his friends with the condition he was then in, he was thereupon kindly invited by the reformed Church at Caen, by an express on purpose, to come there and become one of their Ministers in the absence of Monsieur Sam. Bochart the famous Orientalian, Philologist and Critick, (author of Geographia facra, &c. and of that Latin Letter to Dr. George Morley at the end of that book) who was then going into Sweden. Not long after the Landtgrave of Heffen having written to the Ministers of Paris to send to him a Minis ster to preach in French at his Highness's Court, he was by them recommended to that Prince: from whom likewise he received a very kind invitation by Letters, which he kept by him to the time of his death. But the providence of God not permitting him to go to either of those places, he became at length Chaplain to the Duke de la Force Father to the Princels of Turein, Monsieur Le Couteur being invited likewise at the same time to the reform'd Church of Caen, and Brevint to another Church in Normandy, where he was prefer'd to be Chaplain to the Prince of Turein. Before I go any farther, I must tell you that about 1642 the Duke of Soubize living near to the Court at Whitehall, and finding it troublesome, and sometime impossible by reason of his infirmities, to go to the VValloons Church in the City of London, had commonly a French fermon preached before him in his own house every Sunday. This being found very commodious to the French living near thereunto, it was thought convenient upon the death of the said Duke, to fet up a French Church about the Strand: And it being in a manner fetled, that in the City did so highly resent it, that ever after the members thereof did endeavour by all means possible to pull it down. Upon the Kings restauration the French Church in the City addrefled his Majesty to have the French Congregation at Westminster broken, and forbidden to assemble, because
